

Contact:
Karen Yates, executive producer
773-610-0411
yateska@karen-yates.com

Super Tasty, a Live Cabaret/Talk Show, Delivers Fun and Discourse About Sex

Billed as “a sexy new spin on infotainment,” the inclusive cabaret/talk show SUPER TASTY brings audiences the latest on the wide world of sex and pleasure. The two-hour monthly show, which debuted Oct. 10 at Stage 773 to a sell-out crowd, features interviews, performance, toy demos, panel Q&As, and more.

Irreverent performer and sex educator Karen Yates interviews experts on a variety of sexual topics. Each show features local panelists discussing current sex and relationship issues and answering questions from the audience. Show-and-tell with sex toy purveyors and other expert demonstrators form an ongoing segment. Burlesque/boylesque, storytellers, and other artists provide high-quality entertainment. The show is inclusive, and covers a range of topics, including those specific to LGBTQIA, kink, and differently abled communities.

“There’s a lot of shame about sex and our bodies. Many people feel isolated about their sexual desires, preferences, and pleasures—or don’t know how to overcome the obstacles they encounter to get their needs met,” said Yates, who is also Super Tasty’s executive producer. “I decided to create the show because I love talking about sex and I thought it would be fun to get folks in a room together and normalize the conversation. Plus, doing cabaret-style segments anywhere from five to fifteen minutes long mean we can have a little something for everyone each show.”

Yates has been in the Chicago performance scene for close to twenty years, working as a director, actor, writer, and producer and creating multidisciplinary work. “I’d always been interested in the topic of sexuality, and also the body-mind connection. This led me to somatic sex education, which is about helping people come back to their bodies in a more wholistic way.”

Super Tasty at Stage 773, 1225 W. Belmont, Chicago. Next shows: Thurs. Nov. 8, 7:30pm and Friday, Dec. 14 at 8pm. Tickets, $22.50-$23. www.stage773.com/show/supertasty
Wheelchair accessible. Sponsored by Rebellious Magazine for Women and Quadrant Motors.

Schedule:

Nov. 8: STUFF ‘N STUFFING –burlesque performances by Jean Wildest and P NoNoire and storyteller The Dutchman; interview with Mel Leverich from the Leather Archives & Museum and Jessica Linke, researcher on historical fetish costumes; panel on HOW DO I LIVE MY FANTASY? featuring Mx. Maya, education coordinator for Twisted Tryst, Caitlin Victorious, sex and relationship coach, and Brandon Haydon, sex-positive psychotherapist; experience DIY kink in the “Kinky Kitchen” with Dom Peter, Chicago kinkster.

Last Month's line-up:

Oct. 10: VARIETY PACK—Interview with Shawn Coleman, professional cuddler. Panel on WHAT IS SEX? featuring Jera Brown, sex writer for Rebellious Magazine, Caitlin V Neal, sex and relationship coach, and Dom Peter, a Chicago kinkster. Performances by Po' Chop, Billie Arizona, and storyteller David Fink. Sex Toy demo with Eros Fine Goods.